Bus Survey

FEW RIDERS ON BUS

A survey taken by the Mattapoisett Police Department at the request of the Selectmen has revealed a decided lack of bus riders and a gap in service that may contribute to the lack of enthusiasm. A sampling was taken on all runs in a 2-day period. On Friday, January 5th, 13 round trips were made to New Bedford. Eastbound to Mattapoisett the bus ran empty 8 out of the 13. Westbound, the bus ran empty 7 times. The total number of riders was 36 of which 19 went E and 18 W. On Tuesday, January 9th, out of 13 scheduled round trips the bus ran 10. Nineteen people traveled West to New Bedford and 14 passengers traveled east to Mattapoisett for a day's

GIRL SCOUTS

Beginning this Friday, Mattapoisett girls will be taking orders for Girl Scout cookies, delivery in March. Little Bay urges you to support this drive which benefits the local troop directly as well as helping to support national scouting.

An expanding program for more and more girls with new and different challenges needs your help -- what a pleasant way to give it!

total of 33 passengers. The bus failed to appear, east or west, on the 1:40 P.M. run, the 2:40 P.M. run and the 6:30 run which is supposed to be the final trip of the day. Contacted on these missing trips the Union Street Railway said that sickness caused a shortage of drivers, hence the 3 missing round trips.

On January 10th, the Board of Selectmen sent a letter to Mr. Raymond W. Gareau, president of the Union Street Railway Company. The Selectmen stated that continuation of the 13 trips per day schedule to Mattapoisett was vital to many persons and that a reduction in the number of services would prove a serious hardship. In meeting with the Finance Committee the Selectmen said that both boards felt that the proposal for financial assistance should be presented to the voters at the annual town meeting. In the meantime the Board of Selectmen urged that the company continue the full 13 daily trips to the town.

Mr. Gareau had written on January 8, 1973 to request an indication of intent in the request by the Union Street Railway of $7,500 in operating assistance. He said that, in the absence of such indication, the com-

The following article is being continued from last week. "The Rubbish in Our Wake", written by Ted Williams, appeared in the September-October 1972 issue of Massachusetts Wildlife.

The Rubbish in Our Wake

Suburban "friends" enable many city contractors to underbid their more ethical competition. The best demo dumps are found in small towns where the Chief and Sergeant sometimes make up the whole Police Department and the three members of the Board of Health are part time. In the big city, though, a large, well equipped Police Department and an equally large and well-equipped Department of Health diligently protect residents from such public nuisances as demo debris.

Auto tires are roundly cursed by incinerator and landfill crews for the enormous amount of unpleasant smoke they generate when burned and their annoying habit of bouncing up through fill. Instead of devising disposal methods, communities often succumb to the banning temptation When this happens tires are dropped along roadsides, rolled into trout brooks, and sometimes deposited in nearby town dumps. When Worcester decreed that the city dump would no longer accept tires, the dump manager at Fitchburg began to notice that tires were accumulating at an alarming rate. How, he asked, could Fitchburg generate 300 to 400 worn tires a day? A little detective work revealed that Worcester tire stores were getting rid of their old tires through their Fitchburg branches, and Fitchburg was obliged to defend itself with a "daily limit" on tires stingy enough to exclude the dealers. West Boylston has just followed suit. The tires cannot remain in perpetual circulation. Certainly a society with our technological prowess ought to be able to come up with an approach to solid waste management more sophisticated than tossing tires around like hot potatoes.

Perhaps no solid waste snafu affords us a better study of under-the-rug mentality or illuminates more clearly the devious workings of big-city politics than the Montague Plains landfill scandal. Having filled its infamous dumps, having saturated its air with incinerator fumes, having seeded the North Shore marshes with its refuse, Boston turned to the small, woodsy town of Montague 80 miles west.

The site, selected by the Department of Public Works, was the 1500-acre Montague Plains, a richly graveled water-recharge area that supplies more than a billion gallons of ground water a year to nearby towns. Also dependent on the area's water is Farren Memorial Hospital, the largest private user, and the Fish and Game Division's Montague Trout Hatchery, a completely,spring-fed operation with a daily requirement of a million gallons of pure, cold water.

When the DPW suddenly announced its plans in December of 1970 Montague officials were shocked. There had been no public hearings and now DPW was asking the Departments of Public Health and Natural Resources to give their official blessings to a project they'd never heard of and to give them within seven days. Panicked area residents formed a protest group called DUMP (Don't Upset the Montague Plains). Led by Walter T. Kostanski, Register of Deeds for Franklin County, they trooped off to Boston where DPW officials tersely informed them that a recent study had revealed that their town would make a "very satisfactory" landfill for Boston and that there was "very little if any likelihood" that leachate from the landfill would contaminate ground or surface water.

In an effort to provide answers for some of the questions the hasty DPW study had left unanswered, DUMP engaged Dr. Ward Motts, a Professor of Geology at the University of Massachusetts.

Motts reported that "leachates would destroy or severely impair outflow springs, including the state hatchery" and that the proposed landfill "would ... contaminate ground and surface waters." He advised that under no circumstances should any part of the Montague Plains be used for landfill and that it should be protected as "a distinctive geological feature which supports a relatively rare and characteristic flora and therefore contributes to the natural and scenic resources of the Connecticut Valley as a whole".

Neither the Department of Natural Resources nor the Department of Public Health would approve DPW's plan. Fish and Game Director James M. Shepard vehemently opposed it. Charles Kennedy, Director of the State Division of Water Resources, branded DPW's engineering reports "totally unacceptable" and praised Motts' report as "an extremely well done and excellent document which addresses itself to all the questions."

In an article in TGC Bulletin in which he criticized DPW's slipshod research, UMass Engineering Professor F. C. Kaminsky wrote: "One begins to wonder when a State or Federal agency will conduct a proper environmental study for a proposed project before they are forced to do so by a citizens' group."

Some have suggested that DPW's "slipshod" research can best be explained by Boston's gravel shortage and the fact that the destitute B & M Railroad stood to gain more than $1 million a year if the Montague site were chosen. More than 10 years ago the Railroad had bamboozled Montague officials, then unburdened by ecological concern, into selling the entire Plains for a paltry $100,000 and a promise of a 500-acre switching yard and a 1000-acre industrial park. Now, with the Plains still undeveloped, the DPW proposes to ship Boston's refuse - compacted into bales by Reclamations, Inc. (RSI) - to Montague via B & M. On the return trip the B & M would haul a load of gravel from the Plains deposit which, to Montague's chagrin, is presently valued at around $500 million.

Interestingly enough, RSI not only leases B & M land in Cambridge, but maintains a plush office complex in six converted B & M passenger cars, ships its baled refuse by B & M, and until recently drummed out of town by outraged citizens, disposed of its bales on B & M land in Billerica (in direct violation of local ordinances and health regulations). According to Neil Perry, a reporter for the Greenfield Recorder, one of two brothers who helped incorporate RSI was a former vice president of the B & M. Another RSI incorporator, Perry discovered, has a brother who has represented the B & M in court. And a former B & M president is today reportedly one of RSI's major stockholders.

In the thick of the fray Representative Thomas G. Simons (R-Montague) asked for a special legislative investigation into the entire proposal, including a close look at possible collusion between the DPW, RSI and the B & M.

"They've told us," says Simons, voicing perhaps the ultimate irony of the situation, "that if they ruin our water supply, they will supply us with (their) water -- forgetting that we've been asked to supply water from the Connecticut out here for Boston." Boston now depends on central Massachusetts' Quabbin Reservoir for its water, and, although the reservoir dwarfs all natural and artificial lakes and water supplies in the state, it's not enough to quench the city's demanding thirst. Plans are currently under way to pipe water from the Connecticut and Millers Rivers into Quabbin.

DUMP has grown steadily; there are now 200 members organized into 15 sub-committees including a legal committee armed with seven lawyers. DUMP's voice has become so loud that in January Governor Sargent was obliged to place a moratorium on the Montague project pending the report of a specially-appointed study team.

If there's one lesson to be drawn from the above fiasco and the previously-cited flaws in our present sanitary habits it is this: the solid waste crisis is an environmental crisis, perhaps the most pressing one America faces, and we face it as a nation, not as a feudal conglomeration of how best to manage, ignore or pawn off refuse. States, following Federal guidelines, already established by the Envrionmental Protection Agency, should deal with solid waste on an environmental basis, entrusting the job to an envrionmental agency manned by environmentalists, not highway engineers, bridge builders and the like.

We must grow out of our warped value system and learn to control our appetites long enough to curb the rising flood of throw-away commodities. And, finally, we must pass the legislation needed to put those industries that choose to recycle on at least an equal footing with those industries that choose to exploit. There's a lot of rubbish to get rid of, and dumping space and our natural resources are running out.

Tots' Swim & Gym

NEW TINY TOT PROGRAMS AT YMCA

A new series of swim and gym programs will be started at the New Bedford YMCA beginning the last week in January for boys and girls age two through six. Interested parents may register for Phase 1 of this program designed to materially improve the coordination of pre-school youngsters.

Studies have shown that TV watching and other limitations retarded the average youngster in the many skills that were once quite natural. By the time he enters school the average child is not as coordinated as he could be or as good a mixer as he could be. This Tiny Tots program will help to improve his skills and respect for the water and will develop the thrills of climbing, tumbling, playing with others. It will also help the child to grow in muscle structure and muscle tone.

A new series of Mom and Tot pre-school swim classes will also be starting the end of this month along with new morning classes in slimnastics and swimnastics for women.

FHVN. SAVINGS REPORTS ASSETS UP OVER $10 MILLION FOR YEAR

Richard H. Carpenter, president of Fairhaven Savings Bank, reported January 2nd, 1973 at the quarterly Trustees' Meeting that assets were $103,370,336. This is an increase of more than ten million dollars during the past year. In the last quarter alone, deposits increased almost two million dollars.

During the meeting, the Trustees appointed Attorney William H. Carey to the Board of Investment. Mr. Carey is a member of the firm of Desmarais, Carey. Along with Mr. Carey, the trustees also appointed Lawrence B. Maxfield, Raymond A. Covill, Elmer M. Radcliffe and Richard H. Carpenter. Charles L. MacLauchlin, George Schwartz and Eliot A. Hayward were reappointed to the Auditing Committee by the Trustees. The bank's Treasurer, George A. Bunnell, Jr., reported that the new main office construction was progressing satisfactorily and is approximately 50% completed. A May opening is anticipated.

January 17, 1973

Dear Mattapoisett Citizen,

A few weeks ago several prominent Mattapoisett citizens approached me with the idea that I seek election to the office of Selectman, rather than Assessor as I had planned to do. Since that time I have given this much thought and have discussed this possibility with numerous other people. As a result of continued encouragement and support, together with what has been a growing desire on my part over the past years to get some new ideas and leadership into Town government, I have decided to become a candidate for Selectman.

I hope in the weeks to come to be able to meet with as many people as possible in order to explain my views and ideas and gain support for this office. I hope you are one of them.

'The Time of The Cuckoo'

UNKNOWN ACTOR KNOWN

The actor, who this writer did not know last week, turned out to be freshman Arthur Blackburn who will be treading the boards for the first time in Old Rochester's production of "The Time of the Cuckoo". Arthur plays the little rascal Mauro who would sell his grandmother if he could make a profit. As Leona Samish remarks, "He knows a sucker when he sees one." Catherine Langevine is Leona Samish, a secretary on vacation, and Scott Atkinson, as her suitor, is Renato DiRossi, an Italian shopkeeper. This comedy, by Arthur Laurents, is set in Venice, the city of romance and gondolas. Heather Gurney is Signora Fioria, the owner of the pensione where Leona is staying along with an American couple played by Diana Thomas and Mahlon Peterson. Also at the pensione are an elderly couple, the McIlhennys, who are having their last big fling by rushing through all of Europe and Britain in three months. They are played by Nancy Allyn and Mark Roberts. The lazy maid, Giovanna, who spends all day recuperating from the night before, is Donna McLean. Perry Griffith rounds out the cast as DiRossi's son, Vito. The play grows from the conflict of moralities in Italy and America. To quote Leona, "It would be great if you could come over with only a suitcase and not with a code of living standards." Make a note that this play will be this Saturday, January 20th, at 8:00 P.M. on the O.R.R. stage. Tickets may be purchased at the door or from a member of the cast. Why not take a night off and spend it in Venice? Prego?

'Screamers' Concert

The Mattapoisett Firefighters and Firefighters Auxiliary will sponsor a concert by The Screamers on Saturday, February 3rd, at 2:00 P.M. at the Old Rochester Regional High School Bristol Auditorium. Snow date is Saturday, February 10th.

Tickets are available at Tinkham's Pharmacy, the Symphony Shop, or by calling 758-2355 or 758-3575.

Refreshments will be sold during intermission by members of the ORR Sophomore class to benefit their treasury.

GREAT DECISIONS SERIES

The Great Decisions series will be sponsored again this year by the League of Women Voters of the Marion Area. Great Decisions is an annual study-discussion program on key foreign policy topics, prepared by the nonpartisan Foreign Policy Association. A small group meets weekly during February and March to discuss a different topic each week. The booklet provided contains a concise section on each issue and a discussion guide, so participants should not feel that they need be experts. The purpose of the program is to develop better informed citizens, and to crystallize one's ideas through thinking, questioning and debate.

The topics for 1973 are: "The Sino-Soviet-American Triangle: Toward a New Balance

3-Town Mosquito Control ?

The Mosquito Control Committee of Mattapoisett met with representatives from Rochester and Marion to urge that these two towns form committees to work with the Mattapoisett committee in the fight to eliminate the pests. Chairman Patricia Baggarly reports that the Marion and Rochester people will explore the possibilities of starting such cooperation.

MEASLES IMMUNIZATION CLINIC

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health recently sent out a notice warning Public Health Agencies of the possibility of an outbreak of measles this winter. It is important that children be protected from this disease because of the dangers of complications which may accompany it.

If the child has already had the regular measles shot, he or she does not need another one.

The Mattapoisett Board of Health, with the cooperation of the Mattapoisett Public Schools, is offering a free measles immunization clinic for school-age and pre-school children on Wednesday, January 24th, 1973 at 10 A.M. at Center School.

Anyone wishing to have a child immunized (who has not returned a permission slip to school) is requested to call the district nurse at the Town Hall between 8:30 and 9 A.M., or the school nurse at Center School between 9 and 11 A.M., Monday through Friday.

Shellfish Management

A two season program of shellfish resources in Mattapoisett Harbor has been in progress designed to provide recommendations to manage shellfish resources to insure maximum production and environmental benefit to the town. Scientist John Zahradnik of the U.Mass Aquacultural Engineering Laboratory, assisted by students and instructors of Old Rochester Regional High School and the Bent Twig School, has been in charge of the program undertaken in consultation with Mattapoisett Selectmen and Shellfish Warden. Maps have been prepared showing water quality and shellfish inventory.

1. The limited inventory indicates: At the Shinney Beach area, 12 quahogs per 10 sq. ft. with 20% being of legal size; between Sedge Island and Rycroft Point, 9 quahogs per 10 sq. ft. with none of legal size; between Rycroft Point and Molly's Cove, 9 quahogs per 10 sq. ft. with 6% being of legal size; and between Molly's Cove and Shell Beach, 1 quahog per 10 sq. ft.

Aquacultural practices have been undertaken to try to increase the shellfish population. Plastic screening and off the bottom net units have been deployed in sections of intertidal flats. Both methods are designed to protect clams and quahogs against predators. Bottom areas have been harrowed in the west end of Mattapoisett Harbor in preparation for seeding.

Plastic net clutch bags were set to harvest seed oysters. Summer storms prevented a harvest but the 100 nets will be used again this season.

The following recommendations have been made in this summary:

1. Open and/or close shellfishing areas on a time basis more compatible with the life cycle of the shellfish, three to five years instead of the ad hoc basis at present. It is recommended that the area between Rycroft Point and Mattapoisett Neck be closed to the taking of quahogs for reseeding and growth purposes, the exact length of time to be determined by a sampling program. It is further recommended that a portion of the area be cultivated by harrowing and the other half left undisturbed.

2. Identify and set aside permanent broad stock shellfish refuge areas to insure the presence of adequate seed in years when good environmental conditions prevail.

It is recommended that the area from west of Strawberry Point to the east side of Angelica Point and an area on the west side of Aucoot Cove be permanently closed and designated as brood stock refuge areas.

3. Continue to develop and to practice improved aquacultural methods to increase the take of seed as well as to increase survival throughout the life cycle.

4. Maintain on-going inventory of all areas and a simple program of operations research to assist management in decision making.

5. Continue cultch deployment in the oyster brood stock areas and in Brandt Island Cove.

A full and detailed report has been submitted to the Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen, the Mattapoisett Shellfish Officer and the Town Library.

Mattapoisett Town Election

DUMP TITLE CLEARED

The Town of Mattapoisett has acquired title to 140.85 acres of land on Tinkham Hill which will be the site of the new landfill dump. Town Council Leonard Perry advised the Board of Selectmen that the transaction has been completed. The purchase price was $59,000.00.

The road to the dump is passable at present. A portion of the road has been blacktopped and an article will appear in the annual Town Warrant to request funds for the balance of the black topping.

May 1st of this year has been set as the target date for the opening of the new facility. Selectmen are moving with all speed possible to ready the dump.

MASTER PLAN PROPOSAL

The Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen will meet with the Planning Board to discuss a proposal to update the Town Master Plan and will also review Budget items.

THANKS RECEIVED

A letter of thanks was received by the Mattapoisett Fire Department from the New Bedford Fire Department. The letter expressed appreciation for the help given to the New Bedford force on the Bridge Cafe fire and the Rope Works fire.

Percolation Moratorium

The Mattapoisett Board of Health has voted to suspend Percolation Testing until April 1, 1973. The action was taken because of the super saturated condition of the ground due to the heavy amount of rainfall. It is the opinion of the Board that tests taken under these conditions would be unfair to the public since they would not give a true test of the percolation ability of the land.

Mattapoisett Grange

Mattapoisett Grange will hold its bi-monthly meeting this Thursday night, January 18th. A birthday party will be held by 4 groups of the Grange, honoring the 76th year of its continued service of membership to State and National. Mr. and Mrs. William Smith are in charge of the social hour.

Just a reminder - the following night, Friday, at 6 P.M. a pot luck supper will be held, a Ways and Means project. Members are to bring a dish, place setting and 50¢. Anyone not a Grange member may contact the following phone numbers: 2593, 2349 or 3810, or anyone you may know that is a member of the Grange.

Senior Citizens Club

The Senior Citizens' Club of Mattapoisett held a business meeting Monday, January 8th at the American Legion Hall. The president, Mrs. Sophie Sterling, presided. There was a remarkably large attendance in spite of the bitter cold. Five new members joined and were welcomed to the Club.

The club subscribed to the Senior Senate News which takes in the Greater New Bedford area. Plans are being made for a Spring Arts, Crafts, Hobbies and Mini Flea Market. The one held in the Fall was so successful in every way that this repeat is actually "A Command Performance". So, get prepared! The time, date and place will be announced later.

After the meeting, refreshments were served and enjoyed amid much chit-chat. Everyone seemed reluctant to leave the

COFFEE HOUSE NOTICE

The Mattapoisett Coffee House would like to announce a change in schedule. Until June, Coffee Houses will be held once a month rather than every other week. The next Coffee House will be on Friday, February 9th. Anyone wishing to play at the Coffee House sometime, contact Sally Jones at 758-6601.

Sippican Seniors

New officers were elected at the January 3rd meeting of Sippican Seniors of Marion.

The officers for 1973 are: Mr. Otis C. Severance, president; Mrs. Catherine Giffin, vice-president; Mr. Herbert Jensen, treasurer; and Miss Alice Phinney, secretary.

William A. Clough, chairman of the Council on Aging, presented a gift to the retiring president, Mr. Delano Griffith, in appreciation of his services.

Harold Frye, trip chairman, announced plans for a short trip in February and a 4-day trip to Washington in April. He advised members to watch the bulletin

Golf for Men & Women

Country Club of New Bedford golf pro, Huston "Paddy" LaClair, will once again conduct a winter school of golf at the New Bedford YMCA. Area men and women anxious to learn or improve their golf game are invited to register for a convenient class starting the week of February 12th. Classes will be held once each week for six weeks and will be limited to four in each class. The driving range in the new YMCA will be used for classes to be held mornings, afternoons and early evening. Learning or improving on the golf swing will be the major point of attention although other aspects of the game will be taken up over the six week period.
